

CLUSTER REGION ONE

BTSA INDUCTION DIRECTORS' COLLABORATIVE: SPECIAL SESSION

A System Perspective on Encouraging Teacher Effectiveness

Extensive work with results has been done implementing a growth model of induction using formative assessment for beginning teachers including the California Standards for the Teaching Profession (CSTP), the Continuum of Teaching Practice (CTP), inquiry driven by data and a cycle of standards-based reflection.

The national Blue Print for Reform: Reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Act (ESEA) states...

The plan proposes that evaluations be based on multiple measures, acknowledge successes, provide meaningful feedback, inform staff development and staffing decisions, offer teachers more responsibility, and compensate them more reasonably. Teachers deserve to be evaluated fairly and paid for the hard work they do.

Change in evaluations systems - to focus on and reward teacher effectiveness - is receiving increasing attention. You have something to offer to help shape these changes. BTSA Cluster Region One is hosting a meeting on October 27, 2010 at the Sacramento County Office of Education. HR Directors, Site Administrators, Lead Support Providers, Union Leaders and BTSA Induction Program Leaders are invited and encouraged to attend.

Topics for discussion include:

- Explore the connections between formative assessment in induction and summative assessment. With nearly twenty years of experience with formative assessment for beginning teachers, how may best practices be applied?
- How may the newly revised CSTP and CTP be used to develop professional practice over time?
- What are the components of a system for comprehensive teacher evaluation? Who is involved? How? When?

Join us to explore these topics and shape outcomes that encourage highly effective teachers.
